

Training Roundtable January 15, 2009 Noon – 1:30 p.m. Brandywine Country Club

The Training Series gives you the opportunity to share ideas, concerns, successes, and opinions with your peers. By pooling resources and experiences, members come away with fresh ideas. These sessions often launch new ideas that help members improve their organizations' profits and productivity. This valuable information helps training professionals stay up-to-date with new developments needed to create a climate of life long learning in their organizations.

The Employers' Association believes in providing services in a timely manner and the Training Roundtable Series is no different with prompt start and stop time – noon to 1:30 p.m. - at Brandywine Country Club. A facilitator keeps the discussion flowing and lunch is included in the series price.

National Training Trends & Mentoring

Dave Hyslop recently attended a national training conference sponsored by ASTD and will share information on emerging training trends and current publications which can be helpful in planning and conducting training programs. He will also share information on how mentoring can be an important and effective tool in training and performance development.

Our Presenter: Dave Hyslop

Dave has served as a trainer and consultant with various service, industrial, and non-profit organizations over the past 25 years. In addition to his business experience as a production supervisor for General Motors and manager with Michigan Bell, he has served as a business education professor and department chair at BGSU for over 28 years. These business and educational experiences have provided him with the ability to understand and apply business and leadership practices effectively. David's consulting has included conducting workshops in leadership, employee motivation, communication, and performance development. He is also currently involved in helping organizations create a leadership culture and in coaching leaders to higher levels of performance.
